The Strike AR Picatinny Stock Adapter gives the user the ability to mount a 1913 Picatinny interface stock/stabilizer assembly where normally the receiver extension is attached. For ARs that do not need an in-line buffer and buffer spring to function, this is a simple, fast and budget friendly conversion that works on both AR-15 and AR-10 lower receivers. The Strike AR Picatinny Stock Adapter mechanism threads into a standard AR rear 1 3/16"-16 HSS right hand thread and has an anti-loosening detent that is very positive and tactile while keeping the rear detent spring captured for the rear takedown pin. The 1913 Picatinny section of this adapter includes a 4-slot rail section. As an added feature, there is a 360° free swivel QD socket that the user can orientate to either left or right side to best configure the preferred setup. Compatible with majority of folding stocks or stabilizers on the market. When you want to use an upper receiver where everything is self-contained, quickly convert your AR lower receiver to mount a Picatinny stock or stabilizer with the Strike AR Picatinny Stock Adapter.

- If you experience any difficulty during installation or usage, cease use immediately and consult a professional.

Instructions for Installation and Usage

1. Preparation:

- Ensure the firearm is unloaded and pointed in a safe direction.
- Gather all necessary tools for installation, including a wrench suitable for 1 3/16"16 HSS threads.

2. Installation:

- Thread the Strike AR Picatinny Stock Adapter into the rear of the AR lower receiver.
- Use the wrench to tighten the adapter securely, but do not overtighten.
- Ensure that the antiloosening detent is engaged and the rear detent spring is captured.

3. Mounting the Stock/Stabilizer:

- Attach the 1913 Picatinny stock or stabilizer to the adapter.
- Ensure that the stock or stabilizer is securely locked in place.

4. Using the QD Socket:

- Choose the preferred orientation for the 360° free swivel QD socket.
- Attach your sling or accessory, ensuring it is securely fastened.

5. PostInstallation Check:

- Verify that all components are securely attached and functioning properly before use.
- Conduct a function check by operating the firearm in a safe environment.

Disposal Instructions

- Dispose of the product in accordance with local regulations and guidelines for electronic and nonelectronic waste.
