Get more accuracy out of your factory rifle by upgrading with the Field Stock. The traditionally shaped polymer stock provides comfort and warmth in cold weather. Improve accuracy with the aluminum v-block bedding and a free-floating barrel. The adjustable buttstock allows you to be more comfortable for long-range shots.

The Field Stock is configurable for any shooting discipline. In addition to the included sling swivel studs, the M-LOK forend enables you to customize accessories for hunting, competition, or casual long-range shooting.

Our integrated aluminum core incorporates V-Block bedding giving you a solid connection for your rifle while free floating your barrel. This allows your rifle to be more accurate shot after shot and not be affected by temperature or humidity. It's ready for any hunt or day at the range, no matter the weather.
